

The Star System

John Mulligan's Star share screening process has proved its worth over the years. The system identifies shares that combine low valuations with above-average expected earnings growth rates.

Now, as confidence resurfaces, Mr Mulligan adds extra filters to his screening process to identify those shares that will prove most profitable for investors as the recovery takes hold.

